About the Cover

A young woman presented with an unesthetic smile due to old veneers that did not follow smile design principals. She felt that her centrals were too big, round, and wide; and that her canines were too bulbous. She also hated the white spots in her current set of veneers, which had been duplicated to match her existing dentition. Eight Empress Veneer Restorations were fabricated, paying special attention to creating proper proportion and natural coloration, to achieve a dynamic and spectacular outcome.
